

10 fully-funded PhD Positions in Neurobiology of Behavior | IMPRS for Brain & Behavior

Bonn, Germany

Apply to our fully funded, international PhD program in the Max Planck Society! IMPRS for Brain & Behavior is a PhD program in Bonn, Germany that offers a competitive world-class PhD training and research program in the field of neuroethology. IMPRS for Brain & Behavior is a collaboration between research center caesar (a neuroethology institute of the Max Planck Society), the University of Bonn, and the German Center for Neurodegenerative Disease \(DZNE\) in Bonn.

The Projects

20 labs with an enormous variety of research projects are seeking outstanding PhD candidates to join their research. See our website (https://imprs-brain-behavior.mpg.de/faculty\_members) for further information on our faculty and possible doctoral projects. Successful candidates will work in a young and dynamic, interdisciplinary, international environment, embedded in the local scientific communities in Bonn, Germany.

Your Profile

- Proven track record of academic and research excellence
- Master's degree in life sciences, physics, mathematics, computer science, engineering, or other relevant subject (Degree should be concluded before admission to the PhD, latest by November 2022)
- Fluency in written and spoken English
- Research experience is of advantage

Our Offer

Immersion in a stimulating scientific culture of interaction and international cooperation. State-of-the-art facilities with novel scientific technologies and advanced infrastructure. Dedicated support and mentoring personnel. Competitive salary funded for the whole duration of studies and no tuition fees. We are committed to diversity and equal opportunity for all applicants.

Application deadline: December 1, 2021

<https://imprs-brain-behavior.mpg.de/>

You will need: CV, letter of motivation, contact info for 2 referees, academic certificates and transcripts. Only online applications accepted.

Short-listed candidates will be interviewed online in February 2022.
Positions must be started latest in November 2022.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact the coordinator Ezgi Bulca at imprs.info@caesar.de .